Wendy Sue Johnson

Candidate for the 68th Assembly District

“As a high school social studies teacher, I taught students the importance of informed civic engagement and encouraged them to reach their full potential, one classroom at a time. As a family law attorney, I represent parents and children during the most stressful events in their lives, one case at a time,” said Wendy Sue. “Now I’m ready to have an even greater impact on my community by advocating for us in Madison.”

“As a parent, former teacher and school board member I know we need to do more to ensure every student receives a quality education and is safe at school,” said Wendy Sue. “I will prioritize affordable healthcare and work to pass nonpartisan redistricting reform so that fair maps ensure voters are choosing their representative instead of representatives choosing their voters.”

Chris Kapsner

Candidate for the 23rd Senate District

As an ER physician, I know how to handle a crisis and help people in their toughest moments. I’m ready to take that experience to the state senate and make the tough decisions to strengthen our communities.

Whether we are talking about making health care more accessible, investing in our public schools, or repairing our aging infrastructure, it is time for us to get back to the basics and prioritize the people of Wisconsin.
